Thousands sign petition against cuts

BY LAUREN ARCHELL
lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

A PETITION started by a disabled woman from Luton in opposition to cuts to welfare care has received more than 40,000 signatures – and won backing from an MP.

Now Gavin Shuker, MP for Luton South, will help Angela Murray, 28, of Biscot, to present the petition to Chancellor George Osborne.

Wheelchair-bound Angela started the petition after learning of plans to cut the hours of her social care from 20 hours a day to just three.

She said: "I'm a 28-year-old woman but if they take away my social care it'll be the end of my life. I'm disabled but I want to enjoy life the way any other young woman can.

"I was hit by a car when I was two. I have a spinal brain injury which has affected my left side. I can't walk because I have no balance so I've been using an electric chair since I was 11.

"Thanks to social care I have two volunteer jobs, I can go shopping and see my friends.

"But because of the cuts they're threatening to take this support away – leaving me isolated at home, forcing me to go to bed at 9.30 every night, not even be able to go to the toilet."

PETITION: Angela Murray

At the time of going to press her online petition had 44,386 signatures and numerous messages of support from people across the country.

Angela said: "I don't know how it has happened that so many people have signed up, but I am absolutely delighted with the response.

"I'm not being unreasonable – I'm not asking for someone to be with me 24-hours a day. But I do want dignity and I do want freedom.

"If I wasn't in this wheelchair I would have those things, so why shouldn't I.

Angela added: "I'd like this to spark some sort of debate, for the government to have a rethink, or discuss how the system could become a bit more flexible and help those who do need it."

The success of the petition has attracted the attention of MP Gavin Shuker, and a promise to help deliver it to George Osborne.

He said: "I am both heartened by the support thousands of people have shown for Angela's story, and saddened by the real impact of George Osborne's savage cuts.

"There are many stories like Angela's.

"I know it will inspire others to come forward and talk of the injustice being forced on them.

"I have offered to join Angela when she presents her petition to George Osborne and I will continue to work with her and the many others who are being so disadvantaged by the government's horrific cuts."

If you want to sign Angela's petition, visit www.luton-dunstable.co.uk to find the link.

Volunteer work lands retired nurse an MBE

A FORMER hospital nurse is set to be given an MBE for her contributions to healthcare and patients.

Janet Graham, 64, from Luton has been chosen as one of the recipients on the 2013 Queen's Birthday Honours List.

Mrs Graham worked at the Luton & Dunstable hospital for more than 40 years and has been a volunteer since retiring in 2008.

Her current duties include cataloguing all the archives at the hospital and spending hours calling patients who have just been discharged from the hospital to find out about their experience.

Mrs Graham said she was 'absolutely surprised' when the letter announcing her MBE arrived at the house and felt there were others who were 'more deserving' than herself.

She added: "I am worried about what the Queen might ask and about what I am going to wear! I am also going to be reflecting on my career to see what has brought me this award. I am going to continue being committed to the hospital and the patients."

Other people on the Birthday Honours List include Paul Alexander Hughes for services to education and Zahur Ahmed Parkar for public service to equality and diversity.

Retired Assistant Chief Constable Katherine Govier from Bedfordshire Police is also set to be awarded the Queens Police Medal in recognition for her dedication and commitment to police work.

'No immediate threat to club' says developer

BY LAUREN ARCHELL
lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

THE developers responsible for a controversial planning application to the north of Wigmore, have said there is 'no immediate threat' to a local golf club.

Both the manager and members of Tea Green Golf Club in Wandon End, Luton had raised their concerns about the future of the facility should the large-scale development plan get the go-ahead.

It had been claimed that if the application, which has been submitted by Bloor Homes to North Hertfordshire Council was accepted, the land on which the club is situated would be eligible to be bought by a Compulsory Purchase Order – and the facility forced to close.

However, this week Bloor Homes stated that 'Compulsory Purchase Orders are not contemplated'.

The planning documents show that the development, which is called Wandon Park, would include 1,000 homes, shops, a community hall and a primary school, on land between Tea Green and Cockernhoe.

The plan has already upset a number of residents in Wigmore who have started a petition in opposition to the application.

One resident said: "These new homes will be built literally at the bottom of our gardens, yet we can't sign the North Herts petition as we live in Luton.

"It is absolutely unbelievable."

A spokesperson for Bloor Homes said: "The proposed development at Wandon Park poses no immediate threat to the operations of Tea Green Golf Club as that part of the company's development proposals are intended to come forward as one of the later phases of the development, thus allowing the club to continue to operate until the lease expires.

"The Club is leasing land from the freehold landowners who have entered into an agreement with Bloor Homes to sell the land subject to the receipt of planning permission.

"The lease is time limited and Compulsory Purchase Orders are not contemplated."

Driver left with 'nasty injuries' after attack

A TAXI-DRIVER has suffered a brain injury after being attacked in broad daylight.

The 45-year-old became involved in an argument with three men in Lyndhurst Road in Luton at around 3.30pm on Wednesday afternoon.

During the dispute, one of the men punched the driver several times in the face, before kicking and stamping on his head once he had fallen to the floor.

A second man then threw a brick through the windscreen of the driver's vehicle, before all three man fled from the scene.

The victim was taken to the Luton & Dunstable Hospital for treatment where a scan revealed that he had suffered a bleed to the brain.

The first man is described as Asian, around 18 years-old, 5ft 8ins tall and of average build.

The second was also an Asian male, around 20 years-old, 6ft 2ins tall and of slender build.

The third is believed to have been a black male and around 5ft 8ins tall.

Detective Sergeant Chris Beresford, who is investigating the assault, said: "This was a particularly vicious and sustained attack on the victim which has left him with very nasty injuries.

"It is imperative that we locate the offenders as quickly as possible to stop them from carrying out any further attacks."

Anyone with information should call 01582 394092 or the non-emergency number 101.

Zoe creates a cake fit for TV's EastEnders

BY LAUREN ARCHELL
lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

A RISING star in the world of baking has tasted success after a cake she created appeared in an episode of popular soap EastEnders this week.

The cake, which was designed to look like a calculator, was made by Zoe Jackson, 24, of Brussels Way, Luton, and seen in the kitchen of character Tanya Branning on Monday evening.

Thousands of viewers saw the mother apparently baking the cake for her daughter Abi, to celebrate her taking an important exam.

Explaining how her creation came to be on the big screen, Zoe said: "After making novelty birthday and christening cakes for family, friends and regular clients, I put a portfolio together and created a Facebook page with my designs.

"A family friend approached me in April after seeing the page.

"As the art director of EastEnders, she asked me if I'd be interested in making a cake for one of the sets.

"The cake was briefed to look like a calculator and in order to look amateur it needed to be two inches on one side and one inch on the other.

"The funny thing is, it took me two evenings to make the cakes, and I had to make two just in case one was damaged on set.

"In comparison, Tanya started making the cake at the beginning of the episode and by the end had decorated it too!"

Zoe added that it was a relief to see the cake on-screen after having to keep its appearance a secret for months.

TALENTED: Zoe Jackson created the calculator cake, which appeared in an episode of Eastenders this week. In the show, the cake was baked by character Tanya Branning (inset)

She said: "My family and I sat down to watch the programme on Monday and were all really excited.

"We rewound the programme many times to watch the scene again!"

To see if you can spot the cake, watch the EastEnders omnibus which is on BBC2 today at 2pm.

EDL offers to help tackle gun crime

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

AN OFFER from the English Defence League to support groups working to combat gun crime in Luton has brought a mixed reaction from community workers.

Kevin Carroll, joint leader of the EDL, said it had offered support to 'several groups' who may feel not enough is being done by the authorities following shootings in the town this year.

The offer came to light during a Community Cohesion Contingency Planning Group between Luton council, Bedfordshire Police and members of the community on June 6.

It also comes before next Saturday's peace rally which community leaders have said is about telling residents that 'Luton Needs You'.

Kevin Carroll said: "We have offered this support to several groups, in a non-violent fashion by just putting feet on the streets, trying to stop lunatics from shooting up our town and stopping residents in Luton feeling unsafe."

He added that the EDL was willing to take the lead from groups such as The Non Violence Alliance, which supports residents affected by gang crime in the town and advised the EDL to scrap a demonstration outside Discover Islam last year following discussions.

Lenos Wilson, who is from The Non Violence Alliance, said: "I do appreciate their offer and respect it. But I am hoping that the council, the police and the whole community will work in partnership together.

"That's what our peace rally is about and what I would like to see happen."

Leeroy Jenkins, vice-chairman of Luton in Harmony and a youth worker, said he had 'reservations' about the offer as he felt the EDL's approach had already isolated some sections of the community.

He said: "I would not be involved because of reservations about their political and religious stance.

"This is about the community in Luton as a community of different groups of people. And you cannot discriminate against persons of the community."

Glenroy Campbell, who runs a group which mentors ex-gang members, said he 'would work with anyone as long as they have the right interests and are not coming to cause trouble'.

Bedfordshire Police and Crime Commissioner Olly Martins, said he had 'no problems' with individuals in the town getting actively involved in supporting community groups, but thought that 'trying to mix up what the EDL stand for and the issues in Luton is not a good fit'.

He added: "Gun crime has had a negative impact on the reputation of the town and the EDL has had a similar impact on its reputation and that's why I think these two things should not be intertwined."

New additions to scheme

WORK has started on additional improvements to Court Drive in Dunstable, following public feedback about controversial changes that have already been made in the area.

Central Bedfordshire Council and contractor Amey will be adding two-metre bright red textured bands at the entrances to the scheme and at each side of the pedestrian crossings in a bid to 'make drivers feel more confident'.

In addition, new knee-high fencing will stop drivers from going on to the landscaped verges.

Further measures are also being considered, including placing planters on the ghost islands to help divide up the space, and installing studs on the crossings to help visually impaired pedestrians to cross the road.

Councillor Brian Spurr said: "The Court Drive scheme seeks to encourage drivers, pedestrians and cyclists to be mindful and share space responsibly.

"Ultimately we want this to be a space that everyone can enjoy, so these further improvements are about making sure people drive appropriately through Court Drive and improve people's confidence all round."

Call for cameras to catch tippers

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

TEMPORARY CCTV cameras need to be installed to catch fly-tippers who are dumping rubbish on the street, a concerned resident has said.

Forid Ahmed Chowdhury, from Ellenhall Close, has blamed the build up of waste on Curzon Road on a lack of monitoring and care for the garages on the street.

He says that each time Luton council clears the rubbish more returns soon after as not enough is being done to catch the perpetrators or fix the garages which he claims have been 'abandoned'.

Mr Chowdhury said: "Every time I report it they take my details and there's nothing being done about the garages.

WORRIED: MR Chowdhury wants more action from the council

"There's loads of children walking along the street and they have to walk in the road to avoid it. I really want the council to put temporary CCTV to find out who is responsible."

A council spokeswoman said the authority would prosecute fly-tippers where it could and that it was in 'everyone's interest to stop these anti-social rubbish dumpers'.

She continued: "The garages are private property and therefore not the council's responsibilty – only as a last resort does the council have power to access private land if there is a potential health and safety issue.

"But we have advised the resident on various measures he can take to help tackle the issue."

Charity awarded funding to help secure facilities

LUTON Culture has won a grant of almost £10,000 from the Heritage Lottery fund to develop fundraising activities.

The charity, which manages the town's libraries and facilities including Stockwood Discovery Centre and The Hat Factory, will use the money to work with specialists to enable the organisation to arrange events to raise cash.

Chief executive Maggie Appleton said: "As austerity hits harder it is important that we are able to provide Luton with great activities to do and places to visit, as these are not only immensely enjoyable, but add to the quality of life that we all enjoy."

Dad spends Father's Day with the kids!

A CASANOVA camel is discovering what life is like as a first-time dad following the birth of two calves at Whipsnade Zoo.

Having spent his first year at the zoo getting to know the female members of the herd, Mantis the Bactrian camel is now taking a back-seat to the youngsters.

Arriving just in time for Father's Day, Millie and Mo, who were born to different mothers, are described as 'mischievous'.

Keeper Donovan Glyn said: "Despite the change in lifestyle for Mantis, he certainly hasn't got the hump with his new role!"

Bobbies opt to take up a second 'beat'

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

MORE than 50 police officers and staff have had second jobs in the past year, it has been revealed.

A Freedom of Information request sent by Luton on Sunday to Bedfordshire Police found that 56 officers and staff had declared business interests in 2012-13.

Of the second jobs declared, 35 were by serving officers and listed occupations included property rental and management, photography and farming and animals.

Other officers worked in catering and waitressing and in construction and renovation.

Earlier this year the Government said it planned to make a register of all police officers' second jobs.

Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabulary had found that 23,045 police out of a workforce of 201,575 were listed as having second jobs in May 2012.

Jim Mallen, chairman of the Bedfordshire Police Federation, said the need for officers to find outside employment was 'brought on by the Government's austerity measures'.

But he added that some officers might do so as a way of developing other skills.

He said: "It might be that some of them come into the job with other skills and they might want to maintain them."

Britain's better off in the EU

SIR – With loud voices calling for Britain to leave the European Union it's time to nail colours to the mast.

I strongly support Britain's membership. The EU is good for British jobs, good for British influence in the world, and good for our environment.

Britain is also good for the EU. We took a lead role in creating the single market. We work hard to ensure that EU laws are pragmatic and applied so as to maintain a level playing field.

Does the EU get it right all the time? Of course not.

It is a mechanism that allows 27 governments to work together day after day. Mistakes get made, but that's true of every organisation.

Britain could survive outside the EU but where would be the advantage?

Rules made in Brussels do not stop Germany from winning export orders overseas so why should they stop us?

Even if we left we would still apply most EU rules as the price for belonging to the single market.

Could you help pet charity?

SIR – What's that saying about one person's trash being someone else's treasure?

Pet charity PDSA is appealing to animal-loving readers to look again at old, half-forgotten items and donate them to help sick and injured pets during Recycle Week.

Used stamps, spent printer cartridges, old mobile phones and foreign coins – currently gathering dust in homes and offices – can gain a new lease of life with PDSA.

Clothing and unwanted gifts are also welcome donations to PDSA stores.

By recycling all of these items, the charity's friends and supporters can help raise funds to help more pets in need of vets in your community.

Recycling everyday items such as mobile phones and ink cartridges is a great way for companies, schools and offices to get involved. Holding a mobile phone amnesty could be one way to get all those redundant mobiles out of dusty boxes and off to the recycling company!

PDSA – the UK's leading veterinary charity – receives no government funding and relies entirely on public generosity to support its charitable veterinary service.

If any readers want to find out how a small act of generosity can make a big difference to poorly pets they can visit: www.pdsa.org.uk. For more information or to request a recycling envelope call 0800 508 8323 or email fundraising@pdsa.org.uk.

We must start to take action

SIR – We are writing to endorse the call for a People's Assembly Against Austerity, and to mobilise the widest possible support across Luton.

The People's Assembly, initiated by campaigners and trade unions, takes place in London on Saturday, June 22.

The call for a People's Assembly Against Austerity is a response to the government's attacks on pay, jobs, and welfare provision.

With around 80 per cent of the austerity measures still to be implemented, the People's Assembly aims to develop a strategy for resistance that will mobilise millions of people against the coalition government's failing agenda.

The assembly will provide a forum for discussing alternatives to austerity that would promote growth and not punish working class people for a crisis not of their making.

A People's Assembly can play a key role in ensuring that this government faces a movement powerful enough to generate action against austerity measures that are leading towards a triple-dip recession.

The assembly will be ready to support industrial action and national demonstrations.

The People's Assembly Against Austerity will meet at Central Hall, Westminster on June 22.

Your busway views on Twitter

@LutonEye: Luton busway will 'deliver the prospect of life changing opportunities for many people' – Cllr Dave Taylor in LutonOnSunday - pahahahahaha

@collyeates: He's probably right in as much as the escalating council tax bills to pay for it will affect thousands of Lutonians

@andyc_128: is this so Franks can compare with the costs of the delayed road to the airport from when his lot were running the council?

@BenDPB :and what about the people who work in Dunstable? It's gonna kill the town

@JJSoares84 : who wants this bus scheme?? There's nothing to travel to Dunstable for. Seriously, has the market research been conducted?!

And cops re-record Cliff hit...

@John_Pile: Perhaps the police should write a song encouraging people to stop stabbing and shooting each other?

Education boss thinks himself to be wise. . .

IT looks like it's back to the future with GCSEs in England. It is interesting that the changes are being described as a 'new look'. What next: new look black and white TV?

English sees the most changes, which will mean exams instead of coursework at the end of two years. And instead of being marked by letters A-G, the results will be numbered 1-8.

I bet a whole team of specialists were locked up in a room to come up with that one. Students will now have to read a whole Shakespeare play, a Victorian novel and some Romantic poetry.

How new is all that? I took 'O' levels - don't tell Gove, it could be a new working party to make it the next big change - and took exams after two years. We read a Shakespeare play, Victorian novel and Romantic poems.

My play was Merchant of Venice and in role-play I was always Shylock. Must have been the nose. It succeeded in putting most of us off Shakespeare for a long time, as there is little more dispiriting to a 15-year-old than dissecting plays nearly 400 years-old.

Interestingly I have a step-son at a local comprehensive and they studied Othello, so I am not sure what the government is on about.

We also read Dickens' Great Expectations, which was a bit outdated even then and, like most Victorian novels, at least 100 pages too long. Perhaps it is intended to be in part an endurance test, to see who can last the course.

Question 1: 'On which page does Miss Havisham go up in flames?'

Dickens, in Greek terms, wrote Comedy, in that, as a general rule people overcame the forces railed against them and survived and thrived. Thomas Hardy's books were Tragedies, where most people didn't. So Dickens was on the curriculum and Hardy wasn't, which I am sure was some kind of subliminal message.

This government is more comi-tragedy, where most ministers survive and thrive but probably shouldn't.

This is particularly true of the education secretary, who seems to, in part, make it up as he goes along and at the same time wants to return us all to some mythical period where young men, and maybe women, sat around in tunics pondering the great questions of the world, before throwing a few javelins and then retiring to the Elysian fields for a glass of wine and chat with Zeus. Right wing Tories may need reminding that the Ancient Greeks were very open-minded about sexuality and the citizens often had a wife and a 'boy'. I digress.

There is also a mistaken belief in the Tory hierarchy that students today have it easy. Nothing could be further from the truth.

My aforementioned step-son has just finished his 'A' levels, which will, no doubt, soon be tinkered with. I was not at all stressed by school learning and exams and did not know anyone who was.

Mind you it was the 1960s and I can't remember much of it.

These days they are all stressed all the time, which seems a shame as that is hardly conducive to learning or growing up.

Back to Greek for a moment to point out that 'school' originally meant 'leisure in pursuit of knowledge'. It now means misery in pursuit of fast disappearing well-paid jobs.

The tree of knowledge is not the tree of life, as a Romantic poet once said.

Staff get a slice of charity action

BY LAUREN ARCHELL
lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

GENEROUS employees from Domino's stores in Luton have signed up to take part in a 10k run to help raise money for a good cause.

Members of staff from the branches in the town will be among those making their way around the course at Luton Hoo for the Runday event on Sunday, June 23, to raise funds for the Rays of Sunshine Children's charity.

The foundation, which is supported nationally by Domino's, exists to grant the wishes of children who are living with serious or life-threatening illnesses in the UK.

Ahead of the race, Irina Busca, marketing manager, said: "We are delighted to be taking part. I have met some of the children whose wishes have been granted. It really is a worthy cause. I must admit, I haven't done any training – I'll just hope for the best!"

In addition to the group taking part, representatives from Domino's will be on hand to sell slices of pizza throughout the day, with all proceeds going to charity.

- To find out more about the Runday event, visit www.lutonhoo.co.uk/runday-luton-hoo.

Luton has one of a test record!

Figures revealed this week show that Luton has the second highest amount of people passing their driving test without making any mistakes. Amazed? So were we. We sent CARL MUNGAZI out to investigate if it was always plain sailing for learners

EVER heard the one about the guy who abandoned his driving test halfway through and jumped into a train home because he thought he had failed?

Or the examiner who burst a blood vessel in his nose when an eager candidate executed a shuddering emergency stop?

Funny as these incidents sound, they actually happened during driving tests.

They have been revealed by driving instructors in the town, just days after Luton was named as having the second highest number of people who pass their driving test without making an error.

Hard to fathom it maybe, but a Freedom of Information request sent to the Driving Standards Agency by motoring school BSM showed that in the last 12 months there were 186 faultless tests in the town – Farnborough was top.

I caught up with Jim Burgess, an instructor from South Beds Driver Training who has seen a few of his students pass with flying colours. But do things always gone to plan?

He said: "I had a car I took for some repairs but after it was done there was some oil on the seats so I bought some foam for cleaning.

"I left the tin on the back seat and took the car to a test for my one of my pupils a few days later. During the test he had to do an emergency stop and when he did the tin flew from the back seat and exploded on the examiner and driver.

Tell us about YOUR test!

Email editor@lsnmedia.co.uk

"The guy who was driving was swallowed up by the foam and the instructor had to scrape his way out. When I saw him he looked like he had been soaked!"

Another incident Mr Burgess recalls involved a lady who was so nervous about taking her test that she had booked two slots and cancelled both times.

On the third try she turned up but got so nervous whilst waiting that she was sick in the toilet.

Eventually she mustered enough courage to face the steering wheel and took the test.

Mr Burgess said: "When we were driving back she was crying her eyes out and kept saying 'I'm never going to put myself through that again'

Les Stonnell, from the LADC School of Motoring, said he was surprised by the figures quoted for faultless tests. He said that nerves made it difficult for drivers to maintain their composure. But he added that it was possible even though he had seen very few such results in his 20 years as an instructor because she thought she had failed."

It was only when she had regained her composure that Mr Burgess was able to deliver the news that she had passed... without any faults!

One other unfortunate soul had pretty much passed the test when she accidentally pressed the accelerator whilst entering the test centre and launched the car through the gates.

Mr Burgess said: "The car took off, all four wheels were off the ground but the instructor managed to brake before it hit the wall!"

He also said another of his pupils had to abandon her test because she was unable to stop her left leg shaking violently at the beginning of the test.

So why do some people fall to pieces during their driving tests?

He said: "The main reason why they fail is they get really nervous. And other drivers do silly things on the road like cutting them off and this distracts the learner.

"But I think Luton is a good place to learn because all of the different roads. The instructors work hard and make sure their pupils pass the test."

So it seems the secret of passing is to keep your cool.

Plans in place for boxing exhibition

BY LAUREN ARCHELL
lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

ST GEORGE'S Square is set to be transformed into a professional boxing arena for the town's first open air event.

On Saturday, July 6 a purpose-built arena, with a 40ft roof cover and tiered seating, will be constructed to give all guests a fantastic view of the ring.

In addition, the complex will also have three changing villages for all taking part, a fully licensed bar and catering.

The exhibition has been organised by Love Luton to celebrate the town's long-standing boxing heritage.

From 4pm on the day, representatives from local boxing clubs including Hockwell Ring, Lewsey Farm, Shamrock, Dallow, Strike, Academy and Luton Old Boys will be on hand to showcase their talents, cheered on by former champions Billy Schwer and Graham Earl.

To ensure the safety of the spectators, this is a ticketed event with only a limited number still available.

HERITAGE: The boxing event has been arranged to celebrate the town's long-standing affinity with the sport

Andrew McConnell Chairman of Love Luton, said: "We are pleased to be supporting the first of our community events.

"This event is particularly exciting as it is the first anniversary since the Olympic Torch visited town."

You can visit a special Love Luton stand in the Mall on Saturday, June 22 to find out more information about the event and secure your seat.

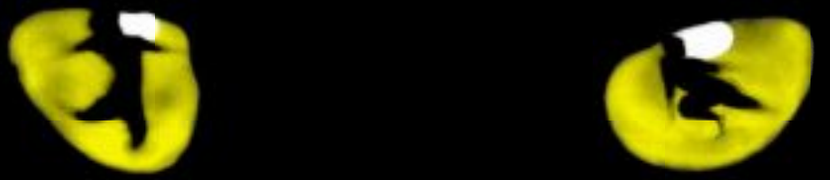

The stall will be located next to the Ask me Point in the Mall shopping centre.

Tickets cost £11 and can also be purchased by visiting www.eventsluton.com or calling 01582 547474.

ALL ABOUT NURSERY

A nursery school is a school for children between the ages of one and five years, staffed by suitably qualified and other professionals who encourage and supervise educational play rather than simply providing childcare. It is a pre-school education institution, part of early childhood education.

Nursery in England is also called FS1 which is the first year of foundation before they go into primary or infants.

The curriculum goals of a nursery school are more specific than for childcare, but less strenuous than for primary school. In some areas, the provision of nursery school services is on a user pays or limited basis while other governments fund nursery school services.

In the UK, pre-school education in nursery classes or schools is fully funded by local government for children aged over three. Pre-school education can be provided by childcare centres, playgroups, nursery schools and nursery classes within primary schools. Private voluntary or independent (PVI sector) nursery education is also available throughout the UK and varies between structured pre-school education and a service offering child-minding facilities. Private sector nursery education curricula consist of proprietary guidelines or international guidelines.

THINKING OF RETRAINING?

As we begin to emerge from the recession, there are still many people who are left unemployed. Thousands of people are still unable to find work in the field where they had plied their trade for the most of their professional careers.

However, one in five adults intends to gain further qualifications with colleges reporting increased enrolment, according to a study by YouGov.

The survey of more then 2,000 adults last year found that in excess of 8.4 million people have switched careers in the previous three years and a further 3.2 million intended to do so in the year after.

Money was deciding factor in 2/5 of respondents. Even if you are trying to get back into the same field of work as you were in before, it is still a good idea to gain more skills.

Training courses are run at colleges; universities private courses providers, advice centres and adult education centres.

If you are not working you may be entitled to a financial help with your fees and if you cannot commit to a timetables course or would rather work at your own pace, you can enrol in a distance learning course.

Lealands High School
A Specialist Sports College

Advertorial

A good result for Lealands High School

Lealands High School was recently awarded a 'Good' overall Ofsted rating with some outstanding aspects identified. The Ofsted inspectors visited the recently refurbished school on Wednesday 15 and Thursday 16 May to conduct a full inspection, looking at the curriculum, teaching standards and the behaviour of students amongst other criteria.

Ofsted judgements included: "The curriculum includes rich opportunities for physical, creative and intellectual development" and "As a result of good teaching that promotes very positive attitudes to learning, students make good progress to reach above average standards."

Behaviour of students was judged as "outstanding" with the report highlighting that, "Students' behaviour in lessons and around the school is exemplary". The report added that, "Teaching is good and some is outstanding."

The head teacher, Mr Burridge, who was appointed less than two years ago, said, "I welcomed the Ofsted inspection with the confidence that Lealands was going to do well. We have achieved so much in the last couple of years and we have shown a trend of continuous improvement. This is a testament to the hard work and dedication of the staff who work here and the enthusiastic students who study with us. Our students, parents and staff should all be proud to be a part of the Lealands community."

Lealands received a survey inspection of ICT in June 2012 which rated ICT across the school as good. Previously the school has been rated satisfactory in its last two full inspections in 2010 and 2006. This recognition of substantial improvement is welcomed by the school and governors.

Will Smith's new After Earth film epic just fails to lift-off

FILM REVIEW

AFTER EARTH (12A)
Director: M Night Shyamalan

THE best thing I can say about this sci-fi actioner is it isn't as bad as other critics have been saying.

It is, without a doubt, a lost opportunity for the seemingly license-to-print-money father-and-son movie vehicle of Jaden and Will Smith – but it's still just about watchable fare.

That's if you can get round the extremely wooden acting and clichéd scripting.

See, the problem is Will Smith's strictly stoic super-soldier father Cipher Raige is completely charisma-free – which is weird for such a usually animated actor – leading to immediate likeability problems which doesn't help his son Jaden (who actually plays his cadet son Kitai).

In fact Jaden – after his impressive turn in The Karate Kid remake – will have to work hard to prove he'll make it as a good actor after this stale effort.

The sad thing is with The Sixth Sense director M Night Shyamalan – who is in a serious career decline of his own after such early promise – helming, the two Smiths, and a seemingly exciting sci-fi premise, it's surprising this offered very little ingenuity whatsoever.

With General Cipher – part due to his intergalactic exploits, part due to death of his daughter – struggling to connect with Kitai, he takes him on a bonding mission across the galaxy, only for their shuttle to crash land on Earth after it is hit by an asteroid.

The only problem is humans have long since left the now uninhabitable planet – with spiking temperatures and evolved creatures making it an inhospitable landscape – and Cipher and Kitai are the only two survivors.

To make things worse, Cipher's got two broken legs, and the emergency beacon to alert the human's new homeworld to their whereabouts is about 100km away.

And to top is all off, a creature they were transporting – a Rancor-monster looking alien called an Ursa – has also escaped.

Cue the expected father and son emotional attachment, as Cipher has to guide his son through the treacherous wilderness to find their only hope for survival.

But it's sadly done in such a generic – albeit still engaging-enough – way, that the journey doesn't really bring an exciting destination. Which after the initially decent-looking trailer is big let-down – hence why it is going to be the first big-budget summer blockbuster failure.

Shyamalan does pretty well in providing the movie with some luscious scenery and backdrops, but fails to do anything close to remarkable to save it from mediocrity – and the film simply never takes off.

Will Smith may be the only one to come out of this relatively unscathed (despite it being a possible nod to his alleged-Scientology beliefs), but After Earth looks like ending up in movie oblivion – with Tom Cruise's Oblivion.

Town prepares to take part in 'Our Big Gig'

MUSIC

The Hat Factory,Luton
July 11-14, 7-11pm

LUTON is set to be part of the biggest celebration of music in UK communities taking place later on this summer.

The 'Our Big Gig' event will see hundreds of music events in various locations across the country next month.

In Luton it will be hosted at The Hat Factory where there will be a celebration of music, showcasing of new and existing talent and encouraging increased participation in music creation.

'Our Big Gig' will aim to encompass a huge range of musical genres such as rock, bhangra, urban, reggae, jazz, fusion and folk, making it accessible for all.

For those who attend, there will also be a chance to get involved and learn a new musical skill in participatory sessions running at the Hat Factory throughout the evening.

The nationwide four-day event will be funded by the Government and Arts Council England.

Fahim Qureshi, arts and community engagement manager for Luton Culture, said: "The Hat Factory is really excited to be taking part in Our Big Gig. It is a fantastic opportunity for us to be part of this national celebration of music."

Alan Davey, chief executive of the Arts Council, said: "Our Big Gig will be a real summer highlight. Up and down the country, communities will be involved in running their own music events, in a range of venues, introducing audiences to new bands, artists and styles of music.

"This is a great opportunity for communities to think big, to nurture home grown talent, and to come together, in celebrating the many joys that music can bring. I can't wait to see the results."

Come and find out about 'The Secret Life of You and Me'

THEATRE

The Hat Factory
Thursday, June 20, 7.30pm

A LIVE scrap book. An unfinished love affair. A made up true story.

Lowri Evans leads a double life. By day she ponders the passing of time, sifting through the fractured memories of people left with only snippets of who they were and by night she makes art in unusual places.

The Secret Life of You and Me sees Lowri share with her audience a collection of thoughts and memories through clever use of projections, readings and props.

She takes her audience on a journey of reflection in an attempt to understand what we are, how we fit together and what we leave behind.

This promises to be an engaging and personal piece of theatre that cleverly includes its audiences own experiences in its narrative. Lowri intends not only to share her own memories but those of her audience too.

Anyone attending the show is encouraged to write a memory they would miss having onto the condensation of a window or mirror and send it to Lowri in advance to be featured in her performance.

To have your memory included, take a picture and email it to mymissingmemory@gmail.com. You can also see examples of memories at visit www.memoriesidmiss.tumblr.com.

Tickets for the event cost £10 and you can purchase them by calling 01582 547474.

Music from the Rat Pack

MUSIC

Watford Colosseum
Thursday, June 27, 7.30pm

IT'S fun all the way as the Rat Pack swings into the Watford Colosseum at the end of month with a selection of some of the greatest music of the 20th century.

The Rat Pack was made up of a group of celebrties in the 1960s. Originally it was led by Humphrey Bogart but after his death in 1957 the group underwent a personnel change, with Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Sammy Davis Jr, Peter Lawford and Joey Bishop heading up the new incarnation of the group.

The tribute act aims to evoke the wonderful memories of Sinatra, Martin & Davis Jr – who were considered the leaders of the group – in a production that has been well received in arenas all over the world.

With an abundance of class and style the band will take you on a trip back in time to vintage Las Vegas and emulate the hip and cool playground in Nevada.

So come along and relive the greatness of classic songs such as 'Come Fly With Me', 'Under My Skin', 'Mr Bojangles', 'Lady Is A Tramp', 'That's Amore' and 'Mack The Knife'.

The Rat Pack tribute act started as a solo gig by Wayne Kennedy in 2002 and since then it has grown in leaps and bounds.

A charity fundraiser in 2003 with members of the England football team saw the show turn into a three-man act entitled 'The Rat Pack Vegas Spectacular'.

The show has been worldwide including countries such as Germany, USA, Denmark, Switzerland, and has also made numerous television appearances.

Tickets start at £17 and you can book by calling the box office on 0845 0753993 or visiting the Watford Colosseum online at www.watford-colosseum.co.uk.

Ben & Holly get the stage treatment

'SOMEWHERE, hidden among the thorny brambles is a little kingdom where everyone is very small. . .'

But not so small that you can't see them and, if you are something of a small person yourself, you will probably already know and love them.

Next week, in the centre of Bedford on Wednesday and Thursday afternoon at 1pm and 4pm, the Bedford Corn Exchange hosts the stage version of Ben & Holly's Little Kingdom.

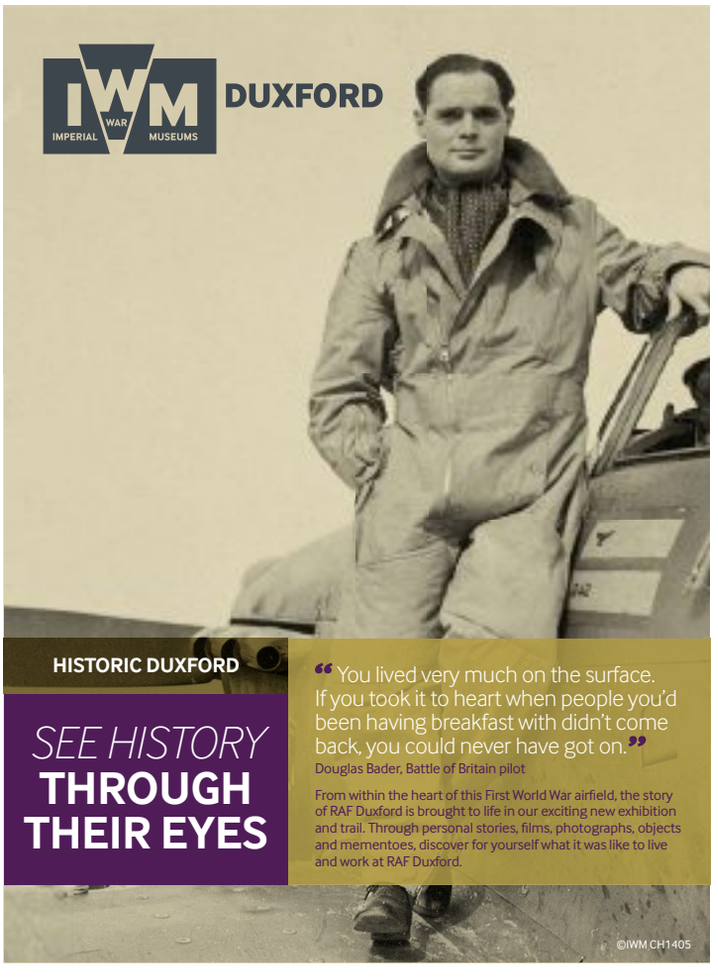

Fairy princess, Holly, is still at Key Stage One when it comes to performing magic spells so from time to time, things don't go exactly as planned.

Her best friend Ben is an Elf. Elves don't do magic but they are very good at making things.

And though Ben doesn't have wings like Holly, he gets around by hitching an airborne lift on the back of Gaston the Ladybird.

This is a new musical adventure bound to delight the smallest members of the family.

ECO FRIENDLY

The Ford EcoSport uses tried and tested Fiesta mechanicals to offer UK buyers a front-wheel drive car with added ride height and chunky good looks.

. It sounds like a simple recipe but sometimes simple works just fine.

The car is offered with Ford's innovative 125 PS 1.0-litre EcoBoost engine, claimant of the 2012 International Engine of the Year award. Plus there's a 110 PS 1.5-litre petrol unit. For those that prefer to go diesel, there's a 90 PS 1.5-litre diesel powerplant. It also offers a comprehensive package of driver assistance technologies, including Electronic Stability Program and Hill Launch Assist.

The chunky looks and high ground clearance suggest a small 4x4 but wriggle under the EcoSport and you'll find a singular lack of rear driveshafts. It is, in effect, a Fiesta on stilts but many drivers find the raised driving position more desirable than the requirement for any actual all-wheel drive capability.

Once you've got over quite how bluff-fronted the EcoSport is, it's actually quite an accomplished piece of design work. The almost Aston Martin-style front grille that debuted on the Fiesta makes its way over to the EcoSport and although the side profile looks a bit pinched, Ford have been very clever with the way they've managed to make a short, tall vehicle look so interesting. The glasshouse is elegant, the headlights and wheelarch treatment is very deft and the stance of the car is better than it has any right to be.

Ford claims that the EcoSport has been designed to cope with terrible third-world road conditions, so it'll be right at home in the UK.

WINNERS: Arnold's successful teams, above and below

Academy footballers have a superb year

FOOTBALL

FOOTBALLERS from the Arnold Academy in Barton le-Clay have enjoyed an outstanding season with the year six and year eight teams leading the way in the county.

There was a trophy haul for both age groups who put in some strong performances on the pitch.

The year six boys completed an impressive treble, winning the league, county league and county cup.

Meanwhile, the year eight side reached the last 16 of the National Small Schools Cup, won the small-sided Aspire Trophy and capped that off themselves by winning the county cup as well.

Not to be outdone, the key stage two girls team also took first place in the Redborne Partnership Football Festival.

PE Teacher and coach Karim Tfifha is proud of the efforts of his players and puts the success down to hard work on the training pitch and an excellent attitude.

"We've worked tirelessly at creating teams that play football the right way," he said.

"It's great to see that rewarded."

Hawks claim first win of the season

CRICKET

BY DAN PALMER
dan.palmer@lsnmedia.co.uk

BOTTOM of the table Luton Hawks picked up a five wicket win in the Luton Midweek Cricket League.

The Hawks saw off Lions CC, who won the toss and opted to bat, reaching 153/3 from their 16 overs.

In response Hawks batted well and they reached their total with a ball to spare.

Elsewhere, there was a victory for Luton United Stars who beat Luton Haiderys by one wicket at Icknield Way.

After opting to bat, Haiderys laboured to 127/5 and this proved to be not quite enough as United finished on 128/9 to edge over the line.

In the remaining game in the Premier Division, Luton Majestics saw off Luton CC by 17 runs.

Majestics posted a relatively low total of 116/7 but some fine work with the ball saw CC restricted to 99/6.

The league leaders, Luton Pakistanis, were not in action but they remain on top of the table, ahead of United Stars who are in second.

Hawks remain bottom despite their first victory of the season.

In Division One, table toppers Luton Saracens continued their good form with a 25 run victory over Luton Cricketers.

Saracens posted 118/8 and this proved to be satisfactory as Cricketers slipped to just 93/9.

There was also a win for Shaheen CC who were good enough to beat Luton Eagles by 18 runs.

Shaheen's 132/5 was enough as the Eagles slipped to 114/5 in their unsuccessful reply.

In the remaining match AKCC picked up a big 32 run win over Haidery Tigers thanks to their strong first innings total of 142/6, Tigers slipping to 110/8 in reply.

VICTORIOUS: Luton Hawks saw off Lions CC by five wickets

In Division Two, the Saracens 2nd XI continue to lead the way thanks to their 12 run win over Cornered Tigers.

A Saracens total of 139/6 was enough as Tigers fell narrowly adrift on 127/6.

AKXI were two wicket winners over Alpha CC who batted first and made 103/6.

In reply AKXI struck back with 104/8 to creep over the line during their allotted overs.

Accident Specialists were also victorious as they saw off Challney by a margin of 11 runs.

The Specialists batted to 123/2 and Challney lost wickets in their chase, finishing short of their required mark on 112/6.

• BEDFORDSHIRE began their three day season with a high scoring draw against Buckinghamshire at Ampthill.

New skipper Jamie Hewitt was dismissed for 99 with Martin Weightman unbeaten on 123 in the Beds total of 469/6 before Bucks posted 518/4 in an innings which included centuries for Michael Payne (141 not out) and Rob White (108).

Beds made 354/5 in their second innings with George Thurstance hitting 121, and there was no time for Bucks to bat again.

The next Minor Counties clash is another home contest, against Staffordshire, starting next Sunday at Luton Town and Indians CC.

Sutton wins County title again

GOLF

THE Bedfordshire County Championships were held at the Millbrook Golf Club last weekend, which provided a big test for the players.

Dunstable Downs golfer Robert Sutton was named as County Champion for the second year in a row after he once again beat Miguel Moitas of South Beds into second place.

His margin of victory was a relatively comfortable five shots, with his four round total of 300 enough for victory and the title of best in the county once again.

Sutton will now represent the county at the Champion of Champions weekend at Lincolnshire's Woodhall Spa club in September, where he will square off with other winners from across the United Kingdom.

"Many congratulations on a successful defence of his title and we all wish him well at Woodhall," said Millbrook's manager Rob Brightman.

The course was in excellent condition and saw players tee off from the very back using the blue tees.

Meanwhile, the colts competition saw Jack Hawksby come out on top on his home course.

His victory was by just one shot from Leighton Buzzard's Matthew Hill, and was a tremendous result for the 15-year-old who shot a gross 305 on his way to clinching the title.

WINNER AGAIN: Robert Sutton collects his trophy

Winger Martin has no time to waste

FOOTBALL

BY DAN PALMER
dan.palmer@lsnmedia.co.uk

DAVE Martin said that he was eager to make up for lost time after his Luton Town future was secured.

The left winger has agreed a new deal which keeps him at the club until the summer of 2015 and he is now craving stability after a period of uncertainty in his career.

He joined the Hatters in January after his release from Southend United where he had found first team appearances to be limited, and before then was on the books of Derby County where chances to play were again at a premium.

His spell at the Rams included two loan stints away from the club at Notts County and Walsall but regular football for the club you are contracted to is what any player seeks and Martin looks set to finally get that back at Kenilworth Road.

However, there was a scare when Paul Buckle, the manager who signed him, left the club to be replaced by John Still, which led to fears that the uncertainty could come rushing back.

"I was thinking 'oh no, not again'," said Martin. "It was getting to be one of those stories again, the manager has brought me in and then he's gone.

"A new manager comes in and he could bring his own players in, and he might not fancy you as a player.

"I wasn't one of his players, but I got my head down."

Still certainly wants to leave his own stamp on the Luton team but Martin is an inherited player he wants to keep.

The 28-year-old made 16 appearances in all for the club after joining and scored three goals in all, including a memorable brace in the 3-0 home victory over Lincoln City.

He did enough to impress Still and ensure that a nomadic lifestyle would not continue, but he is fully aware that the hard work starts now as Luton look to finally return to the Football League from the Blue Square Bet Premier.

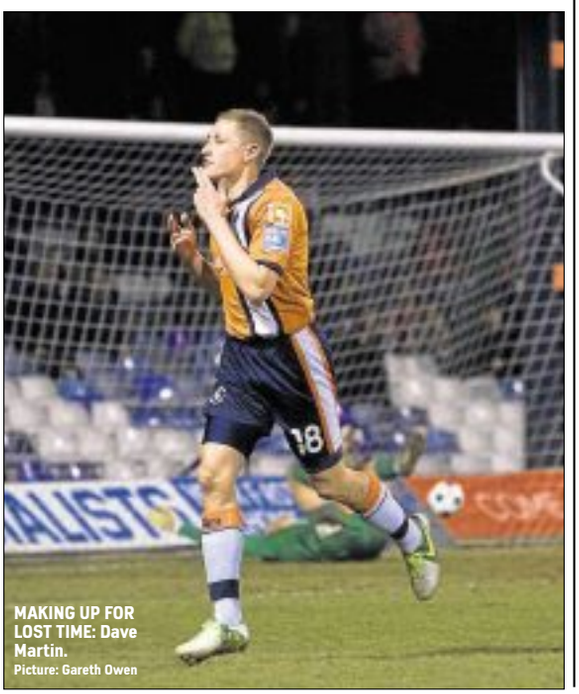

"The manager obviously wants me here so I'm more than happy," said Martin.

"I'm enjoying my football here, I'm getting going again and I've got to make up for a bit of lost time which I want to do over the next couple of years.

"Everyone at the club is thinking that it's got to be promotion and nothing else, there's not much difference between League Two and the Conference but it's the status, you want to be in the Football League and that's where Luton Town should be."

Still said players of Martin's ability 'do not grow on trees' and was happy to have tied his man down.

"I'm delighted that he wanted to sign an extended deal," he said.

More than 4k snap up new season tickets with the Hatters

FOOTBALL

BY DAN PALMER
dan.palmer@lsnmedia.co.uk

LUTON Town have announced that more than 4,000 fans have already snapped up their season tickets ahead of the new campaign of football at Kenilworth Road.

Despite a disappointing season last time out, supporters are backing John Still's men in their droves as the manager looks to guide the club back into the Football League during 2013/14.

Still thanked fans after the figure was reached and numbers continue to rise.

"I'd like to thank each and every one of those supporters who has purchased a season ticket for next season," he said .

"It is a marvellous figure to reach and we're still two months away from the start of the campaign."

Existing season ticket holders who are yet to renew have until Saturday, June 29 to secure their existing seat for next season.

Still will find out the opening opponents of his first full season in charge when the fixtures for the new campaign are released in full on July 5.
